

Potter Resigns At Grand Valley

ALLENDALE (AP) — George T. Potter, Vice President of Academic Affairs at Grand Valley State College, announced Thursday he is resigning to become the first president of the State College of North Jersey.

Potter, who has been a member of the Grand Valley staff since 1962, said his resignation is effective no later than Oct. 1.

North Jersey is one of two new colleges authorized by that state's legislature. It will be located in Bergen County.
